

Holy Trinity

Representation of the Trinity with God the Father (with the globe), God the Son (with the cross) and the dove, the symbol of the Holy Spirit. Father and Son stretch out their hands in the sense of unity with mankind.

The „village saint“ St. Isidore

A Spanish peasant who was canonised in 1622. He is first mentioned in Huldigen in a document of 1741. In today's Luxembourg, Huldigen is his only place of worship.

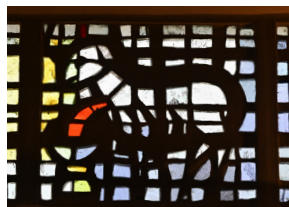

St. Joseph, here with the infant Jesus on his arm, is the patron saint of the church and protector of the marriage and family and the workers. The wooden statue in baroque style was made by the Luxembourg sculptor A. Kratzenberg.

St. Anthony, ascetic and hermit, is considered as the founder of Christian monasticism. One of his attributes is the pig. He is venerated as the patron saint of peasants and domestic animals.

Glass blocks

The artist is Jean Barillet from Paris, who also created glass windows for the cathedral in Luxembourg, among others. The glass set in concrete creates beautiful light effects which are reflected, among other things, in the theme of the seven sacraments.

Stations of the cross

The enamel works are by the French landscape and still life painter Marc Gimat (+ 1969), who kept to the existing colour scale of the room.
